Release Eritrea User Stories

1. Readability - As a Site User I can easily read the content on the site so that the process is stress free and not time consuming.
   - Font and background must have a high color contrast ration.
   - All sections must be properly labelled so the User knows what they are reading.
   - Aria-labels are included for the visually impaired.

2. Social Media - As a Site User I can find social media links on the site so that I can contact release through social media.
   - Links are available to social media websites which open in a new tab.

3. Navigation Bar - As a Site User I can click on the navigation links so that I can go to whichever section of the page I wish.
   - Clicking on a specific navigation bar will take the user down the page to the section they desire.

4. Visible Navbar - As a Site User I can look at the navigation bar so that I can navigate to different parts of the site at any time.
   - Navigation bar remains even as the page scrolls.
   - The page the user is on is underlined.

5. Home Page Links - As a Site User I can click on links on the home page so that I can navigate to different parts of the site.
   - Links on the home page redirect users to other parts of the site.

6. Admin Signup - As a Site Admin I can Sign Up using a username and password so that I have access to the benefits an admin should have.
   - A new staff/admin can sign up from the site and have their permissions changed.
   - Admin can create a new account for new/staff from the admin site.

7. Admin Login - As a Site Admin I can log in to my account so that I can make changes to the site whenever needed.
   - Site Admin can log in to the account so that they can create and edit posts.
   - Site Admin is greeted with "Hello [User]!" at the top of the page acknowledging they have logged in.

8. User Signup - As a Site User I can Sign Up using a username and password so that I have access to the benefits a user should have.

- A User can sign up using a username and password.

9. User Login - As a Site User I can Sign In so that I can comment on the posts.
   - Site User can log in to post a comment under an article.
   - Site User is greeted with "Hello [User]!" at the top of the page acknowledging that they have logged in.
   - A User can tick the "remember me" box if they want to avoid retyping their password every time.

10. Post Articles From Site - As a Site Admin I can post articles from the site so that those visiting the site can read new updates from the organization.
    - Site Admins can post articles from the admin site.
    - Site Admins can post articles from the front end.
    - Site Users can click on and read the articles from the front end.

11. Edit Articles From Site - As a Site Admin I can edit and delete articles so that I can adjust the content or remove as necessary.
    - Site Admin can remove or edit articles from the admin site.
    - Site Admin can remove or edit articles from the front end.

12. Post Old Articles - As a Site Admin I can post old articles so that users can peruse stories from years before.
    - Old articles can be posted onto the site from the front end and admin site.
    - These articles can be tagged 'Archive'.

13. Comment on Articles - As a Site User I can comment on articles so that I can share my thoughts.
    - A User (who is signed in) can post a comment under a current (not archived) article and await approval.

14. Favorites - As a Site User I can add articles to my favorites so that all my favorite articles can be found in one place.
    - Users can add an article to their favorites.
    - Users can find all of their favorite articles on their favorites page.
    - Users can remove an article from their favorites.

15. Article Filter - As a Site User I can search articles based on their title contents or tags so that I can find specific articles more swiftly.

- Users can access the article filter page.
- Users can search for articles by tag or a letter, word or phrase within the title.

16. View Gallery - As a Site User I can find the gallery section so that I have a visual idea of what the org does.
   - An editable gallery section on the home page.

17. Edit Gallery - As a Site Admin I can edit, add and remove pictures so that the gallery section remains up to date.
   - Admin can add new entries to the Profile and Location models from the admin site.
   - Admin can edit and delete entries in the Profile and Location models from the admin site.

18. Add and Edit Info Contents - As a Site Admin I can add and remove content from the info page so that users can be updated on current team members and locations.
   - Admin can add new entries to the Profile and Location models from the admin site.
   - Admin can edit and delete entries in the Profile and Location models from the admin site.

19. View Info Page - As a Site User I can view the info page so that I can know who are the team members, how to contact them and where the offices are.
   - Users can navigate to the Info Page via navigation button or a link within the home page.
   - The Info Page will display information from the Info App.

20. Home Page - As a Site User I can peruse the home page so that I can see all the site has to offer.
   - Scrolling down the home page offers a lot of information about Release Eritrea and what they do.